

Fortify Partners with Storagepipe Solutions

March 15, 2010 – Fortify Network Solutions Inc. announced their partnership with online backup provider Storagepipe Solutions.

Storagepipe provides secure and reliable data protection to small, medium and large businesses, allowing them to decrease operation costs and complexity, optimize IT resources, reduce risks and liabilities, and protect data more efficiently. Storagepipe's automated policy-based solutions protect business data by moving it to a secure off-site data centre, making it immediately available for recovery.

Fortify is excited to promote their partnership with Storagepipe, as they continue to promote awareness on the importance of data backups. Fortify is confident that the online backup solution provided by Storagepipe will complement Fortify's current data storage and backup offerings, while providing an added level of security and redundancy.
